“ I am so sad as this has reminded me that tomorrow is not promised. I just spoke to my favorite Uncle (our inside thing) a few days after Thanksgiving and I promised him I would make it to Houston next year to come and visit.. and as I meant every word of which I said to bring my entire family there to see him and Aunt Sherel, God had other plans.. as much as we think we are in control we are often reminded He is in control. Sad I did not get that visit with him, I am grateful for the phone call! Love you my forever favorite uncle! P.S game boys will always remind me of you! Love always Lina T and family

“ Still processing yet Forever Grateful for the best gifts you bestowed upon me. The first your presence & the second my husband. I am honored to have shared time, space and some very real moments with you LWBS! Thank you for loving me & letting me be your pretend Best Friend until Sherel Jean surfaced, then it was like I didn't exist no more (as it should). The laughter, food & love we shared is engrafted upon my heart. It was with you some of my best memories were created. Completely torn apart but I understand the Masters plans. Praying for the Love of your life & Real Best Friend SJ, the Brooks/Ford Families and all of us both near & far who loved you deeply and completely! There will truly never be another you. Lord please fill this void in my heart. Missing you Sir

“ Sincere condolences to Mrs. Sherel and family. I will always remember the smile on Mr. Lionel's face when I would "cut up" with them in the sanctuary or the bistro. Much love to the family...he was a dear man.
