“ I met Melvin when he drove the bus on my route. What a joy to know him. People fought for the front seat for the opportunity to talk with him during the ride. I'll miss his quick wit, ready smile, dimples, and his kind words. There aren't many truly kind people, but Melvin was truly kind. I feel blessed to have been his friend. He will be missed.

“Melvin, my cousin, friend, counselor, and Brother in Christ will certainly be missed. We shared many special memories that I will always cherish.

Our last years of communication were the most treasured, but we had many laughable moments and memorable events of our younger days. I treasure the latter years because we both valued our relationship with our Lord and Savior above all. We learned what life was truly about, and that everything else was connected and perfected by a relationship with our Lord and Savior. Whenever we talked, we would get an update on the families. Afterward, our conversations shifted to testimonies of the Goodness, Grace, and Mercy of God. Sometimes we would pray and cry as we thought about how far we've come, and the Blessings of God. When we attempted to end the conversation, we would say several times "I'm going to tell you this and get off the phone." It was like a preacher trying to end his sermon, but the spirit had more to say. I can still hear our most frequent recurring words "We can talk about how Good God is all day long!"

“ One of my fondest memories with Melvin is when I was in high school. In 1984, the Neville High School boys' basketball team made it to the state finals. Since the game was in Baton Rouge, the school had arranged for students to travel to the game. I needed a ride to the school, and my big cousin, Melvin, offered to take me there. On the way, we picked up two of my friends. One of my friends lived on Flynn Street, the bumpiest street in America. Now, Melvin was a great driver. Melvin picked me up; then we flew to Flynn Street to pick up my friend. We didn't feel a pothole. It was like we were in a Star Wars' car floating in the air. We never got to the north side of town that fast. No one said a word about his driving, but on Monday, my friends joked about riding on air on Flynn Street.

“ Melvin and Brenda have been our next-door neighbors for over 20 years and together they raised two exceptional sons. In the many conversations I had with Melvin I never heard him utter an unkind word. Curious to know how our kids were doing. Joyful and quick to laugh. It was clear he cared about people. Melvin was truly a positive force in this world. He will be missed.
