““Miss Pearl” was our school cook back at Head Start many years ago before she retired. The students and staff couldn't wait till lunch time because we knew Miss. Pearl was rolling in the lunch tray with her delicious food and spices. I get excited thinking back to those days when food was made with love, preparation and care. An hour before lunch you could smell her cooking throughout the school hallways. She feed many students over the years. And took pride watching those who loved her food eat and fill their bellies. Miss Pearl was also an active union member where she stood strong and demanded change when needed. Miss Pearl often shared stories about her family especially her grandchildren. She will be missed.”
