*I must say these were the most beautiful bittersweet 14 minutes and 7 second I've ever had the privilege with pleasure of experiencing. It put me at such a peaceful state. Such a tranquil energy radiated from the expressions of The Handsome Mr. Timothy. Perkins and of course The Beautifully Beautiful Wife. Mrs. Theresa. Perkins. As if they posed for this very day. So that there Loved ones would be reassured that Everything is going to be alright. And that Mr. Perkins would be going home before us to help prepare a place that we all long for. And not to worry, he's once again dwelling within our father. Amongst our already departed Love One's awaiting our final and permanent reunion, but to take our time, and enjoy this curious thing we call life. GOD'S not going anywhere. So let this be a celebration of life, not a convention of selfish sorrows, tears of uncertainties. Rest assured I have none, for I'm with the Most High. I've done my time, I've completed my purpose. GOD has signed off my mission on earth. Job well done... ..Honorable Discharge Soldier... .. Your free to come HOME...
Well that's what I take from all of this. It's what's been placed in my heart and I can't let it go its shouting in Jubilee of Joy from in and from out. I've known of him and known him a long time. But we became good friends real quick, in a few years, just a fraction of the many years I've known him. And it's been an enlightening journey. A lifetime overflowed and runnethover in those years of friendship. Thank you Mr. Perkins May GOD keep you. In Jesus Name I Pray All these Things.
AMEN

“ Tim,
It's 3:58am the morning of your homegoing. As I layed in bed all day yesterday thinking about life and how it's not promised to any of us. Tim from the first time I met you I sensed a sincere heart (like mostly all the Perkins men) you give with no expectations. I mean you give time, support, and money was nothing to you. You had a smile that would light up a room ( probably bc you were so black lol). Tim I wish I could have given you more time on earth but there are many reasons and excuses I could come up with that will never justify my WHY. So I will live will all the memories we've shared!!! All of our long and late night conversations. Our family gatherings and road trips. I will miss taking shots (taking one right now). I will simply miss YOU Tim!!! Gone so soon but never Forgotten!!! Tim I love you.. Rest Easy Bro. 1luv. The one and only DP.

“ During one of the most difficult times of my life, God led me to meet Teresa and Tim, an amazing couple that taught me a lot about love through action. I will always cherish the time I spent with them and the example they demonstrated. I loved how Tim loved his wife and daughter. I know him to be an amazing man with a big heart. I aspire to love on people they way they did. Sending Teresa and all the family love and well wishes.

“ I met my brother in 1995 at the Neuttons barbershop. I used to cut his hair for many yrs. He was always laid back and wasn't messy , didnt judge and had a calmness about him. He helped me out , gave me wisdom and advice bc i was an idiot and needed. Lol ! I feel like a part of me is gone . I miss my brother and i hate that he was hurting and having to deal with his health but 1 thing i can say is i never heard him complain, get upset or out of character. He was a real classy dude who loved and worshipped his wife Theresa . She held it down and took care him till the end. I know he is finally able to rest and be at peace. I love my brother and miss him. Rest Easy Triple OG
